

Alexya Furr : MRS Landi RES

I think Veterans day is important. They risk their lives for us. They serve and protect us to make sure we're safe.

The military would do anything to protect us. In October my Brother's Ship has been targeted at he is in the United States navy. But in the end they will always come home. At first I felt sad but when you get used to it you start to be happy cause they're doing something good. They will protect the United States.

The United States are in good hands. We have the military serving the country. The military will fight the bad for us as long as we are cooperative. The military will serve America if we choose to help.

The military will protect us. The military wants us alive.

The military cares about us no matter what. The military will take a bullet for us.

The military is very important. They protect US they serve and risk their lives for us.